P. T. A. PLAY IS HIT

An enthusiastic audience greeted the first performance of "And It Rained" last night and all expressed the opinion that it was of the usual superior quality of talent always shown by our high school stars under the direction of Adelaide Cross. The snappily costumed dancers would put many a professional chorus to shame and the exciting plot keeps the audience guessing with the aid of the fine acting of the leads, all new faces in high school casts. Francis Havenner makes a great bid to become the successor to Howard Crockett as a comedian in his role of a henpecked husband. A large "house" eagerly awaits the rise of the curtain tonight, and sad will be the party who misses this peppy performance. The Parent-Teacher Association Milk Fund and the High School General Expense Fund will share the proceeds. Detailed report is necessarily delayed to succeeding issue.

A NOTABLE LECTURE

To Be Given In Thomaston
By Member of Byrd Antarctic Expedition

One has only to listen to street conversation to learn of the keen interest which is being felt in the lecture "With Byrd in the Antarctic" which is to be given in Watts Hall, Thomaston Friday night by Amory H. Waite, Jr., who was a member of that famous expedition. The lecture will be liberally illustrated.

The Quincy (Mass.) Patriot-Ledger of Aug. 13, 1934, had this to say about Waite:

"As a result of his part in the sensational rescue of Admiral Byrd Saturday when another gallant chapter was written in the history of polar adventure, Amory H. Waite, Jr. of Wollaston, takes a niche alongside of Captain Giles Chester Stefman in Quincy's gallery of heroes. In recognition of his part in the courageous suocoring of his commander, Waite has been cabled the following message by Mayor Charles A. Ross:

"We are glad a Quincy man had so prominent a part in the rescue of the nation's hero, Admiral Byrd. The country thrilled to the good news. The entire city joins me in sending congratulations and best wishes."

"Waite, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Amory H. Waite of 24 Elm Avenue, Wollaston, was a member of the three-man tractor party which reached Admiral Byrd's lonely rendezvous Saturday after a dangerous 123-mile slogging journey across the hazardous reaches of the Antarctic. Three days of gruelling labor and innumerable risks was the price that Waite and his two companions paid to reach their commander after two previous attempts had failed. When the trio grasped the hand of their commander, they found him thin and weak and long-haired after his almost five months of isolated existence. "Hello, fellows," were his first words. "Come on hot soup for you."

"Dr. Poultier, Waite and Demas drove the tractor, loaded with sledges and supplies, for 70 hours to reach their commander, 70 hours of danger and toil over the Ross Sea barrier. They were reported near exhaustion when they reached the haven of his lonely camp. Two previous attempts had failed."

MARK TWAIN'S CHOICE

And How He Told the
Rev. Charles Dodd Crane
About the Matter

Rockland friends of Rev Charles Dodd Crane, who is an annual summer visitor in the home of his son, Kennedy Crane, Beech street, will find interest in the article, shown below, which the Boston Transcript is using at this time of Mark Twain's Centennial. Mr. Crane first published the article shortly after the author's death.

By Charles Dodd Crane

A number of years ago I was preparing an article on "Books and Reading," and I ventured to write to a number of distinguished literary people, asking them to kindly reply to the following questions: (1) What six authors would you select to constitute the entire library of a boy from twelve to fifteen? (2) What six would you select for a girl of the same age? (3) If your entire library were to be limited to ten authors, what ten would you select?

Mark Twain was among those to whom I wrote, and he sent me a prompt and characteristic reply in autograph as follows:

Hartford, January 20,

Dear Sir:—
I am just starting away from home, and have no time to think the questions over and properly consider my answers; but I take a shot on the wing at the matter as follows:

Answer to No. 1, Macaulay, Plutarch, Grant's Memoirs, Crusoe, Arabian Nights, Gulliver.

Answer to No. 2. The same for the girl, after striking out Crusoe and substituting Tennyson.

I can't answer No. 3 in this sudden way. When one is going to choose twelve authors, for better, for worse, forsaking father and mother to cling unto them, and unto them alone, until death shall them part, there is an awfulness about the responsibility that makes marriage with one mere individual and divorceable woman a sacrament sodden with levity by comparison. In my list I know I should put Shakespeare; and Browning; and Carlyle (French Revolution only); Sir Thomas Malory (King Arthur) Parkman's Histories (a hundred of them if there were so many); Arabian Nights; Johnson (Boswell's) because I like to see that complacent old gasometer listen to himself talk; Jowett's Plato; and B. B. (a book which I wrote some years ago, not for publication, but just for my own private reading).

I should be sure of these, and I could add the other three, but I should want to hold the opportunity open a few years, so as to make no mistake.

Truly yours,
S. L. Clemens

Two or three days after I had received the above letter, there came another as follows:—
Hartford, January 24. Dear Sir: Please leave out the "B. B." book and all reference to it. This will save me from having to answer idle letters of inquiry. In the place of it, I desire to put Pepsy's Diary, the condensed edition.

Truly yours,
S. L. Clemens

THE CARNEGIE CENTENARY

Rockland Public Library One Of His Many Gifts
Celebrates the Event

J. Andrew Carnegie, the hundredth anniversary of whose birth occurred Monday of this week, is one of the great world benefactors. In Rockland, our beautiful library, which has been a source of lasting pride to our citizens, was made possible by his generosity. Inspired by the desire to public library to most if not all other agencies for the happiness and improvement of a community."

It will be interesting to our patrons to read about one of Mr. Carnegie's friends who called at our library several times this summer.

James Howard Bridge, author of

ANDREW CARNEGIE

As a part of the Andrew Carnegie centennial celebration, the Carnegie Corporation of New York is presenting to all Carnegie libraries in the United States and the British Dominions and Colonies, a reproduction of a portrait of Andrew Carnegie by Luis Mora, framed for permanent display. The above is a picture of the Mora portrait.

Between 1881, when he built his first library in Dunfermline, Scotland, and 1917, when his library gifts ceased, Carnegie donated 2,511 public libraries in the English speaking world. Of these 1,940 were built in the United States. Carnegie was born in Dunfermline, November 25, 1835. The Carnegie centennial celebration will be held in the United States November 25, 26 and 27.

have his many millions distributed where they would benefit the people and advance the cause of education, he donated princely gifts of money to the libraries of this country.

Here at least is one financier (born a poor Scotch boy) whose wonderful accumulation of wealth was turned over with just discrimination to the benefit of future generations.

In consideration of the amount invested, it is doubtful if there is another city or town which can boast of a finer Carnegie Library than Rockland's. The architect, George A. Clough of Boston, imbued with love of his native State of Maine, designed the plans which immediately caught the fancy of the trustees; and the same man secured contractors who were willing to undertake work in which it was well understood that profit was to be sacrificed in the interest of good results.

Our Library this week joins with the Carnegie Corporation in commemorating this anniversary, by displaying its donor's portrait, and sentiments presenting Mr. Carnegie's philosophy in giving, quoting the following:

"I choose free libraries as the best agencies for improving the masses of the people, because they give nothing for nothing. They only help those who help themselves. They never pauperize. They reach the aspiring, and open to these the chief treasures of the world—those stored up in books. A taste for reading drives out lower tastes. . . I prefer the free

"Millionaires and "Grub Street," calling at the library, mentioned the fact that he was a personal friend of Mr. Carnegie. Mr. Bridge spoke much of the great philanthropist and of the Authors Club of New York which was endowed by Mr. Carnegie largely because of his friendship with Mr. Bridge.

Rockland is honored by the privilege of being among the many cities which pay tribute to his name.

The beautiful portrait above alluded to now graces the walls of the Public Library in this city where it will be viewed with admiration by the throngs of visitors.

IN THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

C. WINNIFRED COUGHLIN — Librarian

Every week-day: 9 a. m. to 8.30 p. m.

November 30 marks the one hundredth anniversary of our beloved Samuel Clemens. As Mark Twain he made the world laugh with "Tom Sawyer" and "Huckleberry Finn," and became famous the world over for his books, his humor and his personality.

Friday afternoon occurred the climax of Book Week. For awhile the staff thought of handing out the S.R.O. sign, for the Puppet Show offered a special performance for the Book Week Circus and our younger patrons filled the rooms to overflowing. This was their introduction to this variety of entertainment. Staged by Mrs. Gatzcomb, the show Little Black Sambo delighted the audience. Among the many side show displays of books, carrying out the circus idea, there was one devoted to the making of puppets. This seems to have started a new train of thought, for our busy youngsters and a prize will be offered for the best puppet presented at the next Story Hour of December 6th.

More than a century ago our beloved Hans Christian Andersen became known as a great originator of puppets and at the present day proves most popular entertainment.

New books on order are:

Edna His Wife, by Margaret Barnes; Eve's Orchard by Margaret Widmer; Garden Murder Case by Sinclair Lewis; The Longest Years by Van Dine; It Can't Happen Here by Sigrid Undset; Fair As the Moon by

AT PEACE WITH WORLD, ONE REASON FOR THANKSGIVING

There are many things for which Maine and its residents may be thankful, Governor Louis J. Brann said as he proclaimed Nov. 28, Thanksgiving Day.

"We are at peace with the world," he said, "determined to remain so—pledged to the arts of peace."

"There has been no abridgment of our treasured rights as American citizens, free to speak, to assemble peacefully, and to select our government without interference."

"Materially we are in a much better position than the majority of the nations."

"There has been, in my opinion, a re-awakening of spiritual values," the Governor said.

"It may even be said that there has been an advance in social justice."

"We may well give thanks to the God for our fathers and America that America retains, as of old, its sterling courage, reflected daily in the lives of its people."

"In Maine we have cause to raise our voices in perennial Thanksgiving for the great gifts of nature that set this State apart within the Union as a land of abounding beauty, health and happiness."

"There are many things if we but pause to count them up for which, as a State and as individuals, we may offer our humble thanks."

LEGION'S MIGHTY TASK

Winslow-Holbrook Post Prepares For Donation
Day—Basket Deadline Dec. 10

The annual Legion Donation Day will be Sunday, Dec. 15 and the place Park Theatre. The need is fully as great as a year ago and Winslow-Holbrook Post is completing careful plans for the great humanitarian task it shoulders each year at this time.

A thousand or more needy persons benefit each year from Donation Day, folks young and old who otherwise would be hungry at Christmas time. The process of Donation Day is simple. Manager Dondis, according to his usual public spirited custom, will donate the use of Park Theatre (last year it was both Park and Strand) and the need probably will arise this year for both theatres. The employees of the theatres follow the generous lead of their chief and donate their services. Admission to the three shows on Sunday, Dec. 15, goes entirely to charity through the medium of the Legion.

There is no set admission fee charged to these shows. One may bring a sack of flour, a can of coffee, a jar of jelly, a peck of potatoes or one potato if the case may be. Many persons choose to pay cash at the box office rather than bring foodstuffs, and the money so received is used to procure food for distribution. All the merchants and chain stores have cooperated loyally in the past and will undoubtedly do so this season. Morris B. Perry who acted so generously in 1934 has already indicated a repeat for 1935.

Donald L. Kelsey who has so capably headed up the enterprise in years past will again be general chairman and is putting the finishing touches on his committee lists which will be published in an early issue of this paper.

Something different this year will be the establishing of a definite deadline on Dec. 10 after which no applications for baskets will be received. This is absolutely necessary and will be strictly adhered to. If you want Legion food baskets or know deserving families who need them be sure that name or names are turned in prior to Dec. 10. Much time is necessary to sift through the names, avoid duplication and eliminate the small percentage of undeserving which manage to creep in. Then more time is taken in preparing for the huge task of distribution which is handled by Legionnaires and volunteered trucks.

Names of those desiring baskets should be left at The Courier-Gazette office on or before Dec. 10.

ANTI-MORAN CITY COMMITTEE

The Moran faction of the Democratic party lost a major engagement Sunday afternoon when it lost control of the city committee. The contest was over the chairmanship of that organization, and Perley Niles, standard-bearer of the Moran forces, was benched by a vote of 8 to 6, the winner being David Robert McCarty, the popular young Northend druggist, who was a pronounced anti-Moran candidate.

The game was played on the Moran gridiron, but the McCarty faction was familiar with the field and were keenly alert for forward passes, lateral passes or trick plays of any sort.

Serving with Chairman McCarty on the Democratic City Committee will be Mrs. Geneva Upham as vice chairman, John J. Perry as secretary and Blake Annis as treasurer.

Mrs. E. B. Hall at Warrenton is the proud owner of two black crows, who answer to the names of Amos and Jeffie. Crows are not so unusual but crows that talk are, and that is the case of Amos and Jeffie who can say "Hello, mamma, how are you?" and other short phrases. Mrs. Hall has had the crows a little over a year, taking them as tiny new born birds and bringing them up carefully by hand, their first food being bread and water administered by means of a medicine dropper.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM

If I had my life to live again I would have made a rule to read some poetry and listen to some music at least once a week. The loss of these tastes is a loss of happiness.—Charles Darwin.

BALLADE OF THE SEA-FOLK

Where are the creatures of the deep,
That made the sea-world wondrous fair?
The dolphins that with royal sweep
Sled Venus of the golden hair
Through leagues of summer sea and air?
Are they all gone where past things be?
The merman in his weedy lair?
O sweet wild creatures of the sea!

O singing sirens, do ye weep
That now ye hear not anywhere
The swift oars of the seamen leap,
See their wild, eager eyes a-stare?
O sirens, that no more ensnare
The souls of men that once were free,
Are ye not filled with cold despair—
O sweet wild creatures of the sea?

O Triton, on some coral steep
In green-gloom depths, dost thou forbear
With wretched horns to call thy sheep,
The wandering sea-waves, to thy care?
O mermaids, once so debonaire,
Sport ye no more with mirthful glee?
The ways of love-folk forever?
O sweet wild creatures of the sea!

Envy
Deep down mid coral caves, beware!
They wait a day that yet must be,
When Ocean shall be earth's sole heir—
O sweet wild creatures of the sea!
—William Sharp

KENT'S HILL CLUB

Formed In This City With Leroy A. Black As First President

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Emery, Pacific street, was the scene of an enthusiastic gathering Friday night the occasion being the forming of a local Kents Hill Club. Present were Leroy Black '27 and Mrs. Black, Rockland; Percy Blaisdell, '26, Rockland; Miss Mary Bartlett, '24, South Thomaston; G. B. Butler, '24, South Thomaston; Luther Glidden '27, and Mrs. Glidden, of Waldoboro; Lizette Green Emery '23 and Mr. Emery, Rockland; Harold Grindle 1900, Camden; Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Lait, both '26, of Camden; Miss Ethel Holbrook '32, South Thomaston; Miss Ruth Russell '33, Rockland; Miss Muriel Graves '34, now training at Knox Hospital, Mrs. Ripley '02 and Mr. Ripley, South Thomaston; Miss Virginia Brown '33, Rockport; Francis Studley '26, Medomak.

Presiding over the meeting were Prof. and Mrs. J. O. Newton of Kents Hill Seminary, the former having been connected with that institution more than 30 years. An organization to include all local Kents Hill alumni, husbands or wives, was formed, the officers being: President, Leroy Black; vice president, Percy Blaisdell; secretary and treasurer, Miss Mary Bartlett. The nominating committee comprised Messrs. Grindle, Blaisdell and Lait. Mrs. Emery and Miss Holbrook were placed in charge of publicity.

Prof. Newton announced that this is the fourth club to be affiliated with the Kents Hill Associates, the "mother order," the others being Showhegan, New York City and South Portland. A club is in the process of being formed in Lincoln County at present.

Mrs. Emery read letters and cards from more than a dozen alumni unable to be present, but who sent their greetings and wishes for prosperity and success. A pleasing feature was the singing of an ode by Mr. Lait, the words written for the occasion by Mrs. Ripley. This will probably be adopted for the local organization.

In this locality there are about 40 alumni, among the oldest being W. O. Fuller, class of '73; Mrs. Lillian Mortland, '75, and J. Frank Rich of Glen Cove, '78.

Refreshments were served by the hosts, Mrs. Emery, G. B. Butler, Miss Bartlett, Mrs. Aurilla Sellers Ripley, Mrs. Victoria Coombs Clements, Miss Jeannie McConchie and Miss Holbrook, all former South Thomaston alumni.

No definite date was set for the next meeting, but sufficient advance notice will be given to enable more of the local alumni to be present.

CAMPBELL'S DECISION SOON

Sanford Man May Seek Gubernatorial Nomination—Other Political Gossip

Unless something unforeseen takes place William N. Campbell of Sanford will make formal announcement of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Governor within a week or 10 days. At least within that time he will say to the people of the State precisely what his plans are, says Fred K. Owen, Portland political writer.

Within the last fortnight, Mr. Campbell has been staking out his plans for an organization and making such connections as should help him in his canvass.

Should Mr. Campbell formally enter the race he will be the third Republican so to do. Several months ago former Senator Blinn W. Paige of Skowhegan and Councillor Clyde H. Smith of the same town announced their candidacies for the Governor nomination. Mr. Paige's coming first. Of the two Mr. Smith has been perhaps a little bit the more active, but within the past month or so Mr. Paige has conducted an equally aggressive campaign. Both have received many profers of support and each appears to feel confident of the result.

Meantime there has been a feeling around on the part of many Republican leaders to find a third candidate who should contest the nomination with the two Skowhegan men. Nearly a dozen citizens have been mentioned. Very prominently mentioned in this connection has been former Gov. Percival P. Baxter.

But Mr. Baxter has been rather disinclined to enter a contest for the nomination. There are still those who think that he fits into the situation better than anyone else.

Another Portlander who has been frequently suggested for Governor, is former Councillor William S. Linnell. Mr. Linnell has been talked about for the place since his retirement from the Council. He is widely popular, his acquaintance extends to all parts of the State and it is everywhere recognized that he is adequately equipped to be Governor. Mr. Linnell has had the matter of becoming a candidate under consideration for some time.

The eastern part of the State has not lacked in gubernatorial possibilities. Clarence H. Crosby of Dexter, former State Senator, has been the choice of many Republicans all over the State. In recent months Mr. Crosby has been urged to be a candidate in the next primary but he has not been inclined to accept for business reasons, so it is stated.

Another eastern Mainer who has been regarded as Governor material for some time is Murchie of Calais, but the writer has been given to understand that Mr. Murchie will not be a candidate.

Within a fortnight Raymond E. Thurston of Rockland, former Councillor and until recently warden of the State Prison, has been making inquiries as to how his candidacy would be received. How much encouragement he got I have not learned, says Mr. Owen.

F. R. Murphy, Associated Press staff writer, says that politicians and voters within and outside of the State are puzzled to know what Gov. Braun will do in 1936, but the Chief Executive has stated that he will not say until Jan. 1st, and the voters are guessing as to whether he will seek a third term, run for United States Senate, or retire from active politics. It is also intimated that he would not be averse to holding the position now held by Kenesaw Mountain Landis as high commissioner of organized baseball.

Dr. Francis E. Townsend, founder of the old age revolving pension plan that bears his name, will work in friendly co-operation with Rev. Charles E. Coughlin and his Union for Social Justice, but will not join forces with the radio priest, Dr. Townsend intimated on his arrival in Rochester Sunday.

He also announced that Townsends, unless the Republican and Democratic parties meet the Townsend demands, can be expected to view with sympathy any third party movement next year.

A FAIR QUESTION

Beverage Of North Haven Asks Where the "Rubber Stamps" Are Leading Us

Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

Where are we drifting with our rubber stamps? Anyone who has read of the events which are taking place in this period of world disturbance may well consider what is taking place in our own country. We say our vote will not make any change. Both large parties are corrupt, so let her drift.

But where are we drifting in our national life? Get out your copy of the Declaration of Independence and read it in the light of today's news and see what we find. We say what we find. We say what is taking place in Russia, in Italy, in Germany, and other countries will never take place in the United States.

I wonder how many have read the book "Kapoot" by Carveth Wells, and what he has to say about Russia. It is enough to make an American's blood run cold. He says, "Political recognition will give Russia the right to place a Russian consul in cities all over the United States, and that consul will be a Communist. The consul will organize existing American Communists and create Communists where such do not already exist, so that when the great day arrives for World Revolution, America will be thoroughly permeated with Communistic ideas."

He goes on to say: "It is amazing that the United States should calmly finance a government which has frequently stated that its object is the overthrow of all capitalistic governments, especially those of America and England." What is taking place now in regard to this statement of his? How did it happen we recognized Russia? Oh, do not say rubber stamp, and that we will not give up our liberty in the United States! Who says so?

Representative self-government was suspended in the State of Louisiana. No citizen there had any rights which the local dictator needed to respect. What brought it about? Huey Long offered free text books, good roads, and later a share in other people's wealth once he got around to redistributing it. Good bait and it took. The truth is that dictators first ingratiate themselves by their gifts. We have a sample of it in this country. Who would have dared to tell us a few years ago that a President of these United States would have given him the power to make a tariff treaty behind closed doors? What have we got for self-government when one of our Representatives is quoted as saying: "I am for anything the President wants, regardless." Rubber stamp again.

Congress, in effect, abandoned the pretense of being a deliberative Legislative body long ago. The men who wrote their names at the bottom of the Declaration of Independence knew full well the chances they were taking. If they failed, hanging would be their end.

The young men and women now coming into power will have the responsibility of defending or of yielding this great possession. Will we let the good old Ship of State drift on, no, sail no, to the rocks, with Socialism, Communism and the Reds at the wheel, throwing out bait and promises, or will we vote to put Americanism at the wheel of that grand ship which was given us 159 years ago with Capt. George Washington at the helm? She was good enough for Washington and she is good enough for us.

BRADLEY KINCAID AT PARK

Bradley Kincaid, radio singer, will appear in person at Park Theatre Thanksgiving Day when there will be a continuous performance.

Bradley Kincaid was the first singer on the air with mountain ballads and folk songs as such. Bradley has built his popularity on the fact that he sings only the best and most authentic of the mountain ballads, and he refuses to clutter up his program with any of the so-called "hill-billy" songs. Remember how he packed Park Theatre when he was in Rockland some months ago—adv.

Mrs. Robinson—And were you up the Rhine?

Mrs. De Jones (just returned from a continental trip)—I should think so; right to the very top. What a splendid view there is from the summit!

BAY STATE HUNTERS

Wood and Temple Leave Prison Duties Behind and Get Their Game

Out of the North Woods yesterday came two rugged hunters whose bronzed faces bore all of the whiskers that had accumulated thereon while they were in the wilds. When the disguises were removed it was found that one of the hunters was Walter L. Wood, who frequently visits relatives in this city; and that the other was Charles S. Temple, one of his associate officers in the Charlestown State Prison.

They went to the Moose River region in the vicinity of Jackman, making their headquarters at Little Churchill Camps, and gunned to such good advantage that the two nimble brought back a buck and a doe.

Messrs. Wood and Temple beheld a beautiful sight on the Wednesday following their arrival, an ice storm having covered all of the trees so heavily that limbs were bent to the ground. A week ago Sunday it snowed so hard that there were from 8 to 10 inches on the ground.

The Bay State hunters saw much game, were blessed with, good appetites and had a perfect outing.

They left for Charlestown this morning and back at the prison will play their parts in the care of 800 convicts.

CAMDEN

Dr. W. Lee Dickens, D. J. Dickens, T. W. McKay and Douglas Libby have returned from a gunning trip at Kokodjo. Mr. Libby and D. J. Dickens each got a deer.

Miss M. Sophia Smart has closed Thayercroft on Chestnut street and returned to Geneva, N. Y., for the winter.

The Baptist Baraca Class served a scallop stew supper last evening to class members and their friends. Following the supper a talk was given by Charles E. Lord, superintendent of schools.

A public beano party at the K. of P. hall Wednesday evening will be under the auspices of the Sons of Union Veterans.

Leland Mann who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. Charles E. Cleveland, is in Manset for the winter. Mrs. Mildred Horton is on a vacation from her duties at the office of the Knox Woolen Co.

Mrs. Clara Brown was hostess to Monday Club this week with Mrs. Cora C. Robbins as reader.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ames have closed their house on Harden avenue for the winter and taken an apartment in the Frye house on Chestnut street.

Mrs. S. N. Butler is very ill at her home on Sea street.

Miss Mary Taylor is a patient at Community Hospital.

Rev. William E. Berger of the St. Thomas Episcopal church will speak at the Thanksgiving union service at the Baptist church Wednesday evening at 7:30.

RONALD JOHNSON

Ronald Johnson, 24, died late Monday afternoon after an illness of two days. He was born at Machiasport son of Murray and Julia (Holmes) Johnson.

Besides his parents he leaves three sisters, Mrs. Lawrence Leach and Rebecca Johnson of Camden; Mrs. Victor Richards of Brunswick, and two brothers, Edgar and Harry Johnson both of this place.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Regular Masonic Assembly will be held Thanksgiving night at Temple hall. All Masons invited. Refreshments—adv.

MUTINY ON THE BOUNTY

Picture Now Showing At The Strand
Was Two Years In the Making

Appropos of the general interest being taken in the showing of "Mutiny on the Bounty" at the Strand the early part of this week, this film has the distinction, enviable or otherwise, of being the most expensive production to come from Hollywood this year. Two years in the making and involving film expeditions to Pitcairn's Island and Tahiti, not to mention prolonged location trips to Catalina, the picture is reported to have cost between $1,800,000 and $2,000,000.

From some of the statistics it is learned that 14 months of diligent research work, conducted by a corps of delvers into old books and records provided the film company with an accurate record of everything from the length of the Bounty's foresail to the width of Captain Bligh's shoes.

Every possible bit of documentation relating to the Bounty's last trip was consulted, and every bit of sea and soil across which the band of mutineers had traveled was scaled and studied by the executives working on the story.

One of the humorous interludes that characterized the stay of the "Mutiny" company at Catalina centered about Charles Laughton who plays "Captain Bligh." Laughton was sequestered in the historic old Banning homestead, about a mile up the mountainside, where whole scenes were being made for the picture. The first day he became lonesome and decided he must get down to the village. But no means of transportation was available, and there was no telephone connection. Finding an old weatherbeaten bell in the yard, the reincarnated Captain Bligh began to beat it so hard with a stone that valley inhabitants thought the old house was on fire. The island's sole volunteer fire truck clombered hastily up the hillside, only to find an actor who was waiting there for a hitch-hike.

The "Bounty" trilogy, written by Nordhoff and Hall, "Mutiny on the Bounty," "Men Against the Sea" and "Pitcairn's Island" are on the shelves at the Public Library and constitute thrilling reading.

L. was in Portland Friday for the reception and celebration at City Hall tendered to Dr. Eugene Fogg, Sous Chef de Cuisine de Fer, of La Societe des 40 Hommes et 8 Chevaux, who was elected to that office of distinction at the recent National convention in St. Louis. Patriotic and civic organizations combined in making the event one of outstanding interest.

Expressions of praise are being heard on all sides regarding the broadcast given by Atwood Levensaler Sunday afternoon on WLBZ. Mr. Levensaler chose as his subject "A personal enthusiasm," giving in impeccable English his own impressions of Alexander Woolcott as a broadcaster, and presenting verbatim Woolcott's broadcast concerning the notable play "Journey's End." Mr. Levensaler's voice came over perfectly, with clarity and poise, marked by excellent diction and enunciation. His presentation compared very favorably with professional broadcasts, and hope to hear him again is generally expressed.

TO ISSUE FOOD WEDNESDAY

Thursday being Thanksgiving Day Supr. J. N. Southard of the city's welfare department will distribute government food supplies Wednesday instead of Friday, a thoughtful arrangement whereby the beneficiaries will have a good Thanksgiving dinner in common with the citizens at large. Recipients are asked to note the change in day of distribution.

Residents of Summer street feel justifiable pride in their trim appearance. The brook has been covered, a new sidewalk has been laid from Union street to Broadway, (both civic projects) and the residences of V. A. Leach, Mrs. George W. Smith, L. A. Walker, Charles M. Harrington, Dr. C. P. French, Fred A. Carter, Mrs. Clara Campbell, M. E. Wotton, Dr. N. A. Fogg have been painted. The residences of Mrs. H. P. Hicks and Charles H. Berry are now being painted.

Speech Readers Club meeting Thursday afternoon after the lesson conducted by Mrs. Frank Hewitt united in celebrating the 83d birthday of Mrs. Mary Veazie, a charter member of the club and one of its most loyal members. Mrs. Veazie was showered with gifts from members and friends present and absent. Ice cream augmented a huge lighted birthday cake. At the table with the guest of honor were three other octogenarian members Mrs. Elizabeth Haines, 85, Mrs. A. D. Bird, 81 and Mrs. Flora Lovejoy, 80. The occasion marked one of the happiest gatherings of the club. The meeting this week will be omitted due to the holiday, the next to be Dec. 5.

Golden Rod Chapter met Friday night and had visitors from Naomi Chapter of Tenants Harbor, Ivy of Warren and Forget-me-not of South Thomaston. More than 200 members and guests partook of supper prepared under the direction of Mrs. Millie Thomas, assisted by Mrs. Mary Ladd and Mrs. Grace Veazie. Table decorations featured orange candles, horns of plenty and other novelties in keeping with the Thanksgiving season, and reflected the skill of Mrs. Hester Chase and Mrs. Carolyn Stewart. The entertainment given at close of the evening session had Mrs. Evelyn White in vocal solos, and Mrs. Blanche Morton in readings. Mrs. Amy Tripp accompanied.

THE NOISY ONES

A correspondent writes:
Many of us, possibly numbering well up into the millions, have never, to our knowledge, met a "gun man." But the public enemies make up another matter. Most of us have had encounter with him in one form or another. There is the motorcycle rider with cut-out open and no muffler; auto drivers with horns needlessly shrieking; ambulance and fire-company trucks returning from duty with display of noise entirely unnecessary. And the barking dogs let out from home in the middle of the night. And blaring radios tuned to the loudest pitch long after the neighborhood bedtime.

Would it not be well to look ourselves over and see if we as individuals are free from the classes which figure, perhaps unknowingly, in the public enemy list?

THE MOOSE SEASON

Opens Thursday In Three Counties — Wardens Will Be On the Job

Concentration of game wardens in Knox, Lincoln and Waldo Counties to protect cow and calf moose and try to prevent hunters from shooting each other, was underway yesterday in preparation for the three-days bull moose season, which opens in those counties Thursday.

Fish and Game Commissioner Stobie ordered the regular warden force in the three counties tripled.

"There isn't a legitimate excuse for anyone mistaking a man for a moose," he said as he received a report that since the Maine bird and deer season opened last month 13 hunters were killed and an equal number wounded.

Only bull moose may be shot and they must be more than one year old with at least two prongs not less than three inches long on each horn. Penalty for killing cow or calf moose is $300.

The three-days season was voted by the Legislature last winter on representation by residents of Knox, Lincoln and Waldo counties that moose were frightening women and children and damaging crops.

A survey of moose herds throughout the state by game wardens showed they have increased but not to any great extent.

Commissioner Stobie asked that moose hunters be extremely cautious in use of their firearms, because most of the animals, on which there has been a closed season since 1929, were likely to be found close to human habitations.

Non-resident licenses to shoot moose cost $25.25.

BEST OF THE FIVE

Is What Postmaster Drew Says About Boston's "Vinalhaven Reunion"

The advance guard of the Vinalhavenites returning from the fifth annual reunion held in Boston Saturday, blew into town yesterday morning in the shape of Postmaster O. V. Drew and Frank Grimes.

They reported the occasion as the biggest and best of the five; 115 Vinalhavenites representing five of the six New England States gathered at the 20th Century Club and renewed old friendships. A full roster of names and a complete account of the proceedings will appear in an early issue of this paper.

Tucked under his arm, Postmaster Drew, who acted as toastmaster, carried a big birthday cake given him by the committee, as the date of the reunion happened to fall on his birthday.

Postmaster Drew attended the Sharkey-Winston boxing exhibition and speaks of it as a double-barreled fiasco, the newspaper accounts of which were in full accord with his personal views.

Sunday night Mr. Drew saw the Bruin Cubs defeat Springfield 2 to 1 in an overtime hockey game, and came home full of enthusiasm over that sport.

Due to Thanksgiving Day, Winslow-Holbrook Post will not hold their weekly meeting.

Mrs. F. A. Turner visited her daughter- and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alton R. Soper, recently.

Soper-Turner

Alton R. Soper of Smithfield and Miss Marie E. Turner of Augusta were married Nov. 15 in Smithfield by William P. Dudley of that town, the double ring service being used.

Mrs. Soper is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Turner of this place. She attended Erskin Academy was graduated from Hartland Academy and has been a successful teacher. For the past five years she has been employed at the Northeastern Press in Augusta and resided in that city with her brother, Fred L. Turner.

Mr. Soper is employed as a salesman at the Waterville Auto Sales. The newly wedded couple recently bought an apartment at 109 College avenue, Waterville, where they will make their home. They have the best wishes of many friends.

ANNUAL REPORTS OF THE CITY OF ROCKLAND For the Year Ending October 31, 1935

Rockland, Me., Nov. 18, 1935.
To the Honorable Mayor and Members of the City Council:
Your Auditor has examined and approved the books and accounts of those City officials, for the municipal year ending Oct. 31, 1935, through whose hands pass moneys and funds of the City.

Again the City Council presents a balanced budget. A reduction of $15,000 is shown in the City debt.

The amount of bonds outstanding is $2,900.00 less than a year ago; the Temporary Loans are $7,159.29 less; the State the County Tax balance is $1,983.34 less; the Accounts Payable $460.39 less.

The amount of unpaid taxes is $340.82 less than a year ago, thus not only reflecting much credit upon the Tax Collection department; but also a fine spirit of co-operation and support by the tax payers of the City that is worthy of appreciation and commendation.

The Accounts Receivable—old balance—has been reduced $600.00 during the year, and now stands at $1,732.83. I believe that this matter should be given preferred attention by the City Council, and this balance be collected or abated.

The item of Unredeemed Tax Titles has, through a period of years, been gradually reduced until it now represents a balance of $4,000.00 of what appears to your auditor to be of doubtful value, and more or less fictitious, and it seems to me that our citizens would appreciate the elimination of these doubtful assets.

Respectfully submitted,
J. E. Stevens, City Auditor.

THE SAUNTERER
A. B. Crocker

Let us saunter around Boston of "An Hundred Years Ago." Ships, the sea, and all connected with it, permeated the very soul of Boston in 1835. How marked is the change in the past 100 years! Boston, although the most active seaport on the Atlantic coast and a city for over 10 years, presented the aspect of an overgrown town. She still hugged the waterfront, extending to the north only as far as the present Northend, to the south to the vicinity of what is now Northern Avenue, and bringing herself to a halt to the west on Beacon Hill.

In a seafaring community of 70,000 people who called it home, Washington street, in 1835, was "the Broadway of the metropolis of Massachusetts." The City Hall, newly lighted by gas—for Boston had become a city in 1822—stood at the head of State street. Boston, at that time, was confined to its natural limits, within which lived not only the residents of the city but all those engaged in business in it.

Modern seashore residence was unknown. The summer resorts were limited to the neighboring towns of Roxbury, Dorchester, Brookline, Cambridge and Watertown, "within the distance of an easy noonday drive." Andrew Jackson was President of the U. S. A. The city depended upon wells for its water supply, gas had not yet come into use for street lighting, and cows had only recently been evicted from pasturing on the Common.

In March 1834 the first locomotive to run in Massachusetts set out from Boston over the Boston & Worcester tracks for Newton. Boston's harbor was crowded with sails, necessitating over 50 wharves to care for the trade that brought such wealth to this overgrown seaport. (The old saying was that if Columbus had sailed north he would have "made land" sooner than he did, as the greater part of down town Boston is situated on "made land").

About this time 70 acres, 50 of which were available for building purposes, were added to Boston by filling in of the Mill Pond with soil taken from Cops, Pemberton and Beacon Hills, the latter having been cut down from 138 feet above tide-water to about 80 feet. Shipbuilding was at its height, and Donald McKay, supreme designer of clipper ships, soon after went to East Boston.

When the writer went to Boston 50 years ago it was still a great seaport. Many ocean-going ships and

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

By Carrie J. Williams, Central Maine Power Co. Home Service Department.

"The melancholy days have come The saddest of the year" was old-style for November, but the up-to-date poet sings, "The lacerated beauty of autumn woods"

Fills my heart With the loveliness it has lost" And there certain is no need for drear color schemes or monotony for the table, even if winter is upon us, when we have the red of beets and cranberries, the yellow of carrots and pumpkins, crisp celery, apples and bananas to work with.

Nuts Mints

Oyster Dressing

One pint oysters, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 2 cups dry bread crumbs, 1-4 cup butter.
Mix the oysters well with the bread crumbs and season and add melted butter.

Cranberry Frappe

One pint cranberries, 1 1/2 cup boiling water, 1 1/4 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/2 envelope gelatine, 2 tablespoons cold water.

Cook cranberries and boiling water until soft and strain. Add sugar and lemon juice and salt and bring to a boil. Pour water into a bowl and sprinkle gelatine over the top. Add to hot cranberries and stir until dissolved. Cool. Turn into tray and freeze. This may also be frozen in a freezer.

Almond Sweet Potato Balls

For five potatoes, salt and pepper to taste, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 egg, 1 tablespoon cold water, 2-3 cup almonds chopped.

Cook sweet potatoes until tender and then mash, season to taste. Add melted butter and form into small balls. Beat egg and to it add the water. Dip sweet potato balls in egg and then roll in chopped nut meats. Deep fry (350) until balls are a delicate brown. Turn while frying.

Apple Salad

Scrub yellow apples, such as the Grimes Golden, and scrape out the center leaving a shell, notch the edges, dip into lemon juice. Dice the apple pulp and mix with: 1-2 cup chopped dates, 1-2 cup raw, sliced prunes (1st soak in boiling water 5 min. and pat dry), 1-4 cup French dressing, 1-4 cup diced cheese. Fill the apple shells with the mixture and top each with mayonnaise with paprika.

Honey Pumpkin Pie

One and one-half cup pumpkin, 1 cup cream, 1 cup milk, 1 cup honey, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 3 eggs well beaten, 1-2 teaspoon ginger, 1-4 teaspoon cloves.

Mix ingredients together in order given. Line a pie plate with paste. Pour in the pumpkin mixture. Bake at 400 for one hour in cold oven.

After Dinner Jelly Mints

Two cups sugar, 3-4 cup boiling water, 2 envelopes gelatine, 1-2 cup cold water, 1-2 teaspoon extract of peppermint, green coloring, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1-4 teaspoon salt.

Heat sugar and boiling water to boiling point. Pour cold water into bowl and sprinkle gelatine over top. Add to the hot syrup and stir until dissolved. Boil slowly for 15 minutes. Remove from fire and add coloring, peppermint, lemon juice, and salt. Pour into pan rinsed in cold water and allow to cool at least 24 hours in a cool place but not the refrigerator. With a wet sharp knife loosen around edges of the pan and turn out on a board lightly covered with powdered sugar. Cut in cubes and roll in powdered sugar.

Since this is the season when it is customary to express our thanks for the benefits we enjoy, the Home Service Department then wishes to extend its sincere thanks to you for the friendship you have manifested toward us and the cordial relations we enjoy with you as our readers, and our best wishes to you for a joyful Thanksgiving.

many more schooners sailed from there. Russia wharf, near where the South Station is now located, was where the packets sailed from for "Down East." Down town Boston has seen many changes in 50 years, business going south to the Back Bay and is still moving south to Brighton and Brookline.

"One hundred years, quoth the saunterer."

And fifty have I told—
Now open the new before me.

Clever Mrs. Pierce
SHE LOST 50
POUNDS OF FAT

Feel full of pep and possess the slender form you crave—you can't if you listen to gossipers—Mrs. Pierce has a mind of her own.

To take off excess fat go light on fatty meats, butter, cream and sugary sweets—eat more fruit and vegetables.

Take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning to eliminate excess waste (tastes fine with juice of half lemon added)—Kruschen is as low as 40c. Mrs. W. L. Pierce of Tiffin, Ohio, writes: "I've taken off 50 lbs. in 6 months. I was 238 and intend to continue till I'm 154!"

No drastic cathartics—no constipation—but blissful daily bowel action when you take your little daily dose of Kruschen and follow our suggestions with respect to diet. Get it at Blaisdell Pharmacy, Corner Drug Store, or any drug store in the world.

MIDNIGHT SHOW AT STRAND

Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers come to the screen as co-stars team in their fourth musical picture romance, "Top Hat," which features a score of lyrics and melodies by Irving Berlin. They introduce a new sensational ballroom dance in "Piccolino." In "Top Hat" Astaire and Ginger are the principals of a gay romance which unfolds in London and climaxes at the colorful European resort, the Lido. They introduce the new dance "Piccolino," hailed as a more vibrant and exhilarating routine than either the "Carica" or the "Continental." Said to be easily adaptable to the ballroom, it is expected to become the nation's most popular new dance. A mixed chorus of forty boys and forty girls executes an ensemble arrangement of the "Piccolino" as a human rhythm background for the dancing stars. The "Piccolino" is one of six numbers written by Irving Berlin for "Top Hat." The others are "No Strings," "Cheek to Cheek," "Get Thee Behind Me, Satan," "Top Hat," and "Isn't This a Lovely Day." The picture starts Wednesday with a midnight show, continuing through Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Strand Theatre.—adv.

ELMER ALLEN'S CHAT
He Brings Roy To the Front
With a Story On Porpoises

An item or two taken from Atlantic Daily a paper printed on board the steamship Servia, July 30, 1886. On this trip to Liverpool, the "Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company" of 275 men included two major-generals, one brigadier-general, 47 colonels, 92 captains, 51 lieutenants.

"At roll call last night only 75 men reported. The remainder were either down town or in the hospital."

"Members wishing to have the hose played upon them at 4 a. m. can be accommodated by applying to the quartermaster."

"Capt. Thomas J. Olys has some 'fog cutters' which he will be glad to dispose of at 25 cents each. Every member of the company should have one of these before reaching the metropolis."

"The quartet were doing their warblings behind the wheelhouse late last evening. They undertook to serenade Maj. Perle A. Dyer with that ever-pathetic ballad, 'How Dry I Am,' when about a dozen sardophones were turned upon them."

"On account of the large number of men who were absent last night at roll call, hereafter no permits will be issued to men to leave the ship until she arrives in Liverpool."

Several years ago, three men of Scotch descent were before a court in a neighboring city to get their citizenship papers. The first applicant was asked by the judge if he was married.

"Yes, sir," replied the applicant.

"Own a home?" he was asked.

"No, sir, I live with my mother-in-law."

"The same questions were asked the other two and the same answers given."

"My goodness," said the judge, "how you gentlemen do love your mothers-in-laws!"

Going down Barter's Point road one day, I overtook Roy. Before I caught up with him I could see he was riled up about something.

"What's the matter, Roy?" I asked.

"Matter enough, wash day, blue Monday. I try to be gone Mondays anyway, but I got caught today. Ed came up to see me about trading dogs. I told him there was nothing doing in the dog line. He made me tired with his little-tattle about his dog. I told him, 'Bon jour' and headed for the Pierson wharf to have a chance to think."

"I see you have a lot of birch wood, Roy. What's that for?"

"To make clothespins. I make all my wife's pins, she likes them. I made a vow when I got married that I would never turn a wringer and I never have. I make her washboards and clothespins and carry the water. That's as far as I go on wash day."

"A school of porpoise came in the harbor recently and I speared six of them. They make nice bait for the lobstermen. They average 300 pounds each. It was some job for me to get them on the wharf alone. I sell them for six cents a pound, dressed. Porpoise steak is delicious. I always save a hind quarter for myself. The spear I use came from Ethiopia and weighs 19 pounds, my father bought it for me in New York. He also bought one each for Frank Pellett and Fred Wall. I don't think they use them much, as they are busy fellows in New York city.

"Speaking about big fish, Elmer, while we are on the subject it couldn't have been a fish either. I must have been a sea serpent. I was sitting on the wharf one morning in late August, making lobster plugs. I looked down the harbor and saw this thing coming at the rate of 15 miles an hour straight for this wharf. I happened to have John's single-barrel gun which I loaded with buckshot. This thing put its head up over the wharf. I fired point blank at its face. It gave a big sneeze and turned a complete somersault and headed down the harbor for the open sea. I think, Elmer, that thing was 75 feet long and its head looked to be as large as a kerosene barrel. Oh, boy, was I scared! I never come here now without my gun or spear. Well, so long, Elmer, meet me here any day."

Elmer E. Allen

EARLY AMERICAN MUSIC

Formed Program of Rubinstein Club Piano Pupil Presented

Rubinstein Club meeting Friday afternoon at the Universalist vestry had the privilege of hearing one of the finest papers given before the organization for some time, on "Thanksgiving and Early American Music," written and delivered by Mrs. Kathleen Fuller. Mrs. Fuller was able to treat the subject in a particularly happy manner, combining seriousness and wit most cleverly. The illustrative program was:

Chorus—A Prayer of Thanksgiving, Page directed by Mrs. Ruth E. Sanborn Two pianos—Invitation to the Dance, von Weber Idyll, Miss Nathalie Jones and Mrs. Nathalie Snow Soprano—Thanks Be To God, Dixon Miss Fernie Browne Violin—Idyll, MacDowell Miss Esther Morse of Camden Soprano—Give Thanks and Sing, Harris Miss Margaret Simmons Piano—Landing of the Pilgrims, MacDowell Mrs. Charlotte Hopkins substituting for Miss Clemmie Blackington Soprano—Thanks Be To God, Dixon Mrs. Adelaide Lowe Contralto—My Love Has Gone to Sea, Hopkinson Mrs. Agnes Witham of Camden Chorus—Hymn of the Pilgrims, MacDowell Club Chorus

Mrs. Leola Flint Noyes presented one of her piano pupils, Betty Holmes, who charmingly played Northland Cradle Song and Birds in the Meadow, by Gaynor.

Music interest was evinced in the reappearance of the club chorus under Mrs. Sanborn's direction and efforts are to be put forth to create a live and functioning organization. Mrs. Muriel Crie was elected as librarian.

For the program Dec. 6, Miss Mabel Holbrook will substitute for Mrs. Gladys Morgan as chairman, and will read a paper prepared several years ago by Mrs. Carrie Burpee Shaw, a charter member of the club, and given at that time before the Methenese Club. Mrs. Shaw not only is a gifted musician but has much skill with her pen, and keen anticipation is already being shown in the opportunity to hear one of her papers. Her subject will be "Early New England Music" and will contain many delightful reminiscences from her own eventful and fruitful life in music.

Dr. and Mrs. John Smith Lowe left Sunday to spend the holiday week with friends in Boston and vicinity and to have Thanksgiving Day with their son John. During the week they will go to Providence, to call upon M. E. Wotton who is a patient at the Butler Memorial Hospital and showing encouraging gain.

REVOLUTIONARY PENSIONERS OF KNOX COUNTY, MAINE

By Edward Kallach Gould, State Historian of Maine
(CHAPTER LX.)

Lemuel Wentworth

Lemuel Wentworth of Hope, served with both the New Hampshire and Massachusetts troops. His Massachusetts record as given in "Massachusetts Soldiers and Sailors of the War of the Revolution" follows: Private in Capt. Abner Crane's Company, Col. Jacob Gerrish's Massachusetts Regiment; enlisted Nov. 1, and discharged Dec. 2, 1779, on expedition to Claverack.

On the descriptive list of men raised to reinforce the Continental Army for the term of six months dated July 10, 1780, he is described as 26 years old; Stature 5 feet 4 inches; complexion, dark; engaged for the town of Stoughton; arrived at Springfield July 9, 1780; marched to Camp July 10, 1780, under command of Capt. Daniel Shays; discharged Dec. 8, 1780.

His own statement of his military service in his declaration for pension, evidently given from memory 48 years after his final discharge differs materially from the official record just quoted. His New Hampshire service has been verified and corrected from the official records.

He was by occupation a blacksmith. When he applied for a pension April 24, 1818, he was 64 years old. He enlisted May 13, 1775, as a private at Chesterfield, N. H., in Capt. Jacob Hind's Company, Col. James Reed's New Hampshire Regiment in Gen. John Paterson's Brigade. He states that he completed eight months service, then immediately enlisted again and served during 1776, and was honorably discharged at Newton, Pennsylvania.

Again in January or February, 1780 he enlisted in Stoughton, Mass., in Col. Benjamin Tupper's 11th Massachusetts Regiment, Gen. John Paterson's Brigade, serving until the last of December, 1780, making more than nine months service. He was honorably discharged at West Point, N. Y., by Brigadier General Paterson. Mr. Wentworth states in his application for pension that he was in the battle of Bunker Hill, where he was wounded.

Samuel Weston

Samuel Weston of Warren was a shipwright. In his application for pension dated Aug. 8, 1820, he stated that he served eight months, beginning June, 1775, and another term of one year, commencing January, 1776. He served his first term in Capt. Elijah Crooker's Company, Col. John Bailey's Mass. Regiment, known at first as the 2d Regiment Provincial Army, and from July to December, 1775, as the 35th Regiment, Army of the United Colonies. Capt. Elijah Crooker's Company in which Samuel Weston served his first term of enlistment was raised in the towns of Scituate, Marshfield and Middleboro.

The Regiment was divided early

NOT OVERTHROWING GOVERNMENT

Never Attempted Such a Thing, and Never Will, Says One Of "Jehovah's Witnesses"

Portland, Nov. 20
Editor of The Courier-Gazette:—

In your paper of Nov. 5 there appears a letter from one Alena L. Starrett regarding a recent visit of "Jehovah's Witnesses" to the town of Warren.

She sees fit to speak in rather disparaging terms of "the religious sect that calls itself Jehovah's Witnesses," even going so far as to place them in the same class with "Nolan, the man without a country."

Her letter closes with singing the praises of men while God is left entirely out of the picture, (as usual). She further states that we should not be allowed to even hold meetings of any kind, or words which imply that very thing. Her fear of the ever increasing power of Jehovah's Witnesses is quite apparent.

First of all let me say that Jehovah's Witnesses do not ask nor do they need any living creature to defend them. The great Jehovah God, whom we serve, has stated in his word, the Bible, "Blessed is that nation whose God is Jehovah; and the people whom he hath chosen for his own inheritance. . . for the Lord (Jehovah) is our Defence; and the Holy One of Israel is our King." Psa. 32:12; 89:18.

Jehovah God further states in his word, "No weapon that is formed against thee shall prosper; and every tongue that shall rise against thee in judgment thou shalt condemn. This is the heritage of the servants of the Lord (Jehovah), and their righteousness is of me saith the Lord." Isa. 54:17.

Alena Starrett's letter is of itself unworthy of notice, but since she has seen fit to make certain public statements derogatory to the great work now being done by that despised body of Christian men and women known as "Jehovah's Witnesses," it therefore seems fitting and proper that certain facts be here set out that will enable the reading public to form correct opinions respecting matters that affect not only their own beliefs, but the beliefs of others.

In the 11th chapter of Paul's epistle to the Hebrews there is recorded a long list of names of faithful men, and women, who endured all sorts of persecution, ignominy, shame and finally were cruelly murdered because of their faithfulness in giving testimony, (as witnesses), to the name and purpose of Jehovah. In verse 38 Paul says, "Of whom the world was not worthy." Of these the name of faithful Abel is mentioned first, and that of John the Baptist is the last. These noble souls all lay down their lives in defense of the good name of the Great God, Jehovah, whom they joyfully served.

Amongst these faithful ancient "witnesses" can be numbered such courageous men as Mordecai, the three Hebrews of Dan. chapter three, and Daniel himself. Last, but not least, the name of Jesus of Nazareth must likewise be included.

In the days of Mordecai the king, Ahasuerus, promoted Haman to be the chief prince in all the realm. Mordecai refused to bow down to Haman like the rest of the populace were accustomed to do. Because of this Haman hated Mordecai and all the Jews. His hatred grew to such proportions that he lost his head completely, and told the king, "There is a certain people scattered abroad and dispersed among the people in all the provinces of thy kingdom; and their laws are diverse from all the people; neither keep they the king's laws; therefore it is not for the King's Profit to Suffer Them. If it please the king, let it be written that they may be destroyed." Esther 3:1-9. (A full explanation of this remarkable prophecy is given by Judge Rutherford in the book called Preservation). Alena Starrett has suggested the possibility of getting rid of Jehovah's Witnesses, for similar reasons no doubt. At this point it might be well to remind her that Haman came to a very untimely, and humiliating end, on the gallows he had in his rage prepared for Mordecai.

As Alena Starrett would now compel Jehovah's Witnesses of the present day to salute the flag or be denied their rights as citizens entirely, and exiled to "No Man's Land," so likewise the King Nebuchadnezzar set up a golden image in the plain of Dura, and commanded that every person in the realm should bow down and worship the image when the band played "The Star Spangled Banner." There was a Haman crowd there too, and they went to the king with certain cock and bull stories about three Hebrews by the names of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego saying: "These men, O King, have not regarded thee; and serve not thy gods, nor worship the golden image which thou hast set up." Dan. 3:1-12. In his rage and fury the king commanded that they be cast into the midst of a burning, fiery furnace, but the God (Jehovah) whom they served delivered them unscathed.

A little later Daniel had a similar experience. He had been promoted by the king to a place of great authority in the realm, and was "preferred above the presidents and princes, because an excellent spirit was in him." Then the presidents and princes sought to find occasion against Daniel concerning the law of his God. Dan. 6:1-5. They further charged: "That Daniel, which is of the children of the captivity of Judah, regardeth not thee, O king, nor the decree that thou hast signed." Dan. 6:6-16. It is needless to remind Alena Starrett that Jehovah delivered Daniel from the jaws of the lions, and his wicked enemies were then devoured by the same lions.

Jesus Christ, the Beloved Son of God, who admitted his royal heritage, as it is recorded in John 18:33-37, was not immune from the false charge of sedition. The most prominent clergymen of that time were the ring leaders of the mob that shouted, "Crucify him, crucify him." That mob of super patriots were guilty of murdering the perfect Son of God, and says Saint Stephen in Acts 7:52: "Which of the prophets have not your fathers persecuted? and they have slain them which showed before of the coming of the Just One; of whom ye have now been the betrayers and murderers."

As it was with the faithful prophets of old and with Jesus Christ, even so it is now with his faithful followers of the present time. Concerning them Jesus said, "—they shall lay their hands on you, and persecute you, delivering you up to the synagogues, and into prisons, being brought before kings and rulers for my name's sake . . . and ye shall be betrayed both by parents, and brethren, and kinsfolks, and friends; and some of you shall they cause to be put to death. And ye shall be hated of all men for my name's sake." Luke 21:12-18.

Jehovah's Witnesses stand before the entire world in defense of the Bible as the divinely inspired word of living and true God, whose name alone is Jehovah. Psa. 83:18. We are boldly declaring that The Just One, Christ Jesus, is the Son of God and redeemer of mankind, and that he is now since 1914 A. D. the world's rightful Ruler. Moreover we are declaring on scriptural authority that the righteous government of God's dear Son is now beginning to function in the earth, and that said government is the only hope of suffering humanity.

The proclamation of this glorious message of good news to all people so enrages the self-exalted rulers of the present day that they are willing to go to any lengths to get rid of that hated bunch of faithful "Judeans," and the people, ignorant of the real truth of the matter, blindly follow the lead of their blind guides, and shout aloud their utter abhorrence of that "Sect" that refuses to be carried away with the mob spirit, and who refuse to allow threats or coercion to swerve them from their loyalty to God, and to Christ, or to bow to any of the idols or images which men have set up to worship. Demanding that Jehovah's Witnesses be compelled to salute the flag or otherwise be refused permission to meet for the purpose of worshipping their God Jehovah, is equivalent to saying—"You people are disloyal and unworthy of association with the rest of us, and we will not tolerate you." Such a spirit of intolerance and persecution made Salem, Massachusetts a laughing stock, and a reproach in the days of witchcraft, and that produced such noble men as Roger Williams.

Since Jehovah's Witnesses count not their lives dear unto themselves; be it known unto all men that they have taken their stand on the side of Jehovah, the God of righteousness and truth, and of his Son, Christ Jesus who is now the King and rightful Ruler of the world, and that they will maintain that stand regardless of all opposition. Be it further known unto all men that "Our God whom we serve is able to deliver us, and will deliver us" out of the hands of all those who have conspired against us to destroy us and our work.

Be it further known that No Way Will Ever Be Found out of this present state of "perplexity" by the people of this world who attempt to lift themselves up by their own boot straps, and ignore the plain teachings of God's word of truth respecting the Kingdom of God under Christ which is the sure panacea for every human ill. "Because they rebelled against the words of God, and condemned the counsel of the Most High: Therefore he brought down their (proud) heart with labour; they fell down, and there was none to help." Psa. 107:11-12.

As for Jehovah's Witnesses overthrowing the government let me say right here that we are not attempting to overthrow the government of men now, nor will we ever attempt such a thing. The power and authority to do that has been granted solely to Jesus Christ, who is now the Great Judge of all the earth. Psa. 2:8-11. Of ourselves we are very weak, yet Alena Starrett fears that we may acquire more strength; and really do something desperate. Calm yourself Alena, we are not such a terrible bunch of desperadoes as your shattered nerves have deceived you into believing. What little strength we do have though comes from the Everlasting God, the Lord the Creator of heaven and earth. "He giveth power to the faint; and to them that have no might he increaseth strength." Isa. 40:28-31.

No where on earth today is there a Great man with wisdom, power and ability enough to straighten out the tangled affairs of men and nations. That colossal task has been delegated to Christ Jesus, and with him are to be associated all those who are now hated, and despised by men because of their stand as the witnesses of Jehovah. Perhaps Alena will be inclined to question this bold assertion, but in case she is not familiar with the scriptures on this point it is well to remind her of what is written. "The Spirit itself beareth witness with our spirit, that we are the children of God; and if children, then heirs; heirs of God, and joint-heirs with Christ; if so be that we suffer with him, that we may be glorified together." Rom. 8:16-18. Rev. 20:4-6. These statements may anger Alena, and possibly some others too, but they are not made with any such desire or intent. My only reason in writing this letter is that the truth may be told and that the great name of our God Jehovah may be exalted in the hearts and minds of some of the good people of your city who may read this letter.

A MAN WANTED
[For The Courier-Gazette]
Lord, send us a man who has wisdom to plan.
How to raise us above the depression:
A man who is meek, has no ego to seek,
A man full of faith and discretion.
We are wandering to-day in a wilderness way.
And much need a Lincoln or Moses,
To wield sword or pen, and can handle those men
Who for statesmen at Washington pose.
We will vote for a man who hates, and will ban.
The evils that create prostitution:
Who'll give freedom to men who have business ken.
And will stick to the old Constitution.
But we should never go back to the old-time track;
That ground has been worked to a finish.
And our present regime, it can plainly be seen,
Will prosper surely diminish.
We'll conquer all foes with a leader who knows,
And come out from the woods of depression,
But not on that side where we entered the tide.
Politicians have that in possession.
We'll come to a realm with a man at the helm
Who can steer this old Ship of State,
Where the rich must bend low and the poor people grow
In favor like them, and be great.
So, Lord, send us a man, if find him you times—
That can cope with the needs of the times—
A man, who fears God, that despises all fraud,
And will lessen the conflicts and crimes.

HOW TO CARVE A TURKEY
by CHEF Ernest Amiet
OF THE PALMER HOUSE, CHICAGO

1. Place turkey on back with legs pointing towards the carver. Grasp paper frill covering end of leg. Cut through skin between leg and body with carving knife and disjoint leg.
2. Push wing down and hold firmly with fork. Make a deep cut diagonally into breast just above wing. Curve breast in thin crosswise slices. The deep diagonal cut enables you to end slice neatly.
3. Hold wing with fork and disjoint with carving knife. Then carve balance of white meat from breast. Under the back, on either side, may be found two small over-shaped pieces of dark meat.
4. For a small family, it is advisable to carve but one side of the turkey as required so that the remainder may be left in good condition for a second serving.
